BLENDING AUTHENTICITY AND LUXURY, ARAMNESS GIR IS A SAFARI LODGE situated on the edge of Sasan Gir National Park, within a protected teak forest housing numerous bird and animal species. Drawing inspiration from the local village of Haripur, the design is a collaborative effort between Fox Browne Creative and Nicholas Plewman Architects. The interiors, crafted with natural materials and local techniques, exude understated luxury. Elements like Kutchi lippan plasterwork and vintage applique cushions create an atmosphere of deep comfort. Aramness Gir offers a culinary journey

Aramness Gir's design language balances the scales between traditional influence and elegance

that celebrates the rich flavours of Gujarati cuisine, curated by Kamini Patel, the founder of Kitchen Therapy. Unique dining experiences abound, from the Village Dinner in a mango orchard offering a traditional Gujarati Kathiyawadi Thali, to the Jungle Barbeque under the stars. The Haveli Dining Hall serves an authentic Gujarati Thali, while the Garden Pavilion offers a magical farm-to-fork dining experience. The Pool House, with its bar facilities, is perfect for enjoying a serene cup of coffee. Guests at Aramness Gir can choose from a variety of immersive activities. Hospitality runs in the blood of every Indian, irrespective of which background you come from. Growing up, food was made for a minimum of 10 guests daily. So, owning a resort does not feel new for us; it's just welcoming more people at our home to provide them with the best experience. Thanks to my parents, I've been travelling since i was an infant and have lived in various parts of the country and also the world, where I would stay in one country for a month to learn about their culture. AeroVillage in a nutshell is an extension of my private life. We intend to create a one-of-its-kind township with not only Net Zero sustainability, but also an ecosystem that gives back to nature.

“When we first came across the setting of what is now Qayaam Gah, it felt as if we had entered a sacred space that breathed tranquillity and emanated an atmosphere of peace and beauty. We realised that if there were to be a building here, it would not disturb what was already present but would only serve to cherish and reflect it. It was a reminder that God is always the best designer, and our role as human creators is to respect and mirror that perfection as best we can.
